Camp Hope welcomes visitors with pets or livestock. Families and youth camps are welcome to bring their dogs, horses or farm animals for education and enjoyment.

Animal owners shall assume all liability for their pets' or animals' behavior. Camp Hope assumes no responsibility for the behavior or safety of your pets, livestock, or farm animals.

While visiting Camp Hope with your animal, the following rules will be strictly enforced:

1. All pets will remain on a leash or contained in a carrier, cage, fenced run, or vehicle at ALL TIMES while at Camp Hope.
2. Horses must be tethered or trailered when not being ridden.
3. The owner of the pet(s) or livestock will be responsible for cleaning up after their animals. Animal refuse shall be bagged and discarded in the dumpster. Manure may be disposed of in the compost area of the lower field.
4. The animal owner will report to a Camp Hope representative all incidents involving their pet. This includes complaints from other campers, injury to the pet or a guest, loss of animal or pet, or damage caused to or by the animal.

The pet owner and group leader named above agree to hold Camp Hope and its representatives free of any and all liability for our pets and animals while at Camp Hope. We understand that there are dangers to small animals, including but not limited to poisonous plants and predatory animals such as hawks, eagles, and coyotes. We agree to abide by the above rules and policies at Camp Hope concerning our animals. Failure to do so may result in immediate loss of privileges and damage deposit.
